

What Happened?

- Deterioration due to weather conditions
- Power Surge
- Damaged Shielding due to age

Technician Solutions

- Replace wiring
- Maintenance agreement for proactive repair

A capacitor stores and discharges electric pulses. They are prone to failure however a maintenance agreement may prevent a failure due to corrosion. Likelihood of failure is also able to be determined from observation. Capacitor replacement does not typically warrant a system replacement.